CMNW LAUNCHES NEW WEBSITE

Chamber Music Northwest has launched a new, improved website! With more up-to-date information, in-depth resources, extensive photo galleries and a brand new web log, cmnw.org is your window into the world of chamber music. The new site also provides resources and demographics to advertisers and supporters, information on outreach events and our Young Artist Fellowship program, press releases and reviews, program notes, and, of course, the latest information on our concerts, programs and artists.

HAVE YOU JOINED INSIDER NOTES?

Insider Notes is Chamber Music Northwest's electronic newsletter that allows subscribers to keep informed of CMNW news and receive reminders about upcoming concerts. You select which information you wish to receive, and are free to opt out at any time. It's a great new way to enrich your CMNW experience! To join, or to view past issues, visit our new website at www.cmnw.org.

David Shifrin Joins Miami String Quartet for Masterworks Performance January 30

Chamber Music Northwest's Fall-Winter-Spring Concert Series continues January 30, as artistic director David Shifrin joins the Miami String Quartet in a concert at Reed College's Kaul Auditorium at 8 pm.

The Miami String Quartet has quickly established its place among the most respected young quartets in America. Prize-winners of several competitions, the quartet has performed across the country and in Paris, Hong Kong and Switzerland. This January, they will partner with David Shifrin to perform Carl Maria von Weber's Quintet in B-Flat Major for Clarinet and Strings as well as Mozart's Quintet in A Major. The Miami String Quartet will also perform Shostakovich's fascinating and wry Ninth Quartet (1964). Tickets are selling fast, so call the CMNW box office today at 503-294-6400!
